VOLSTEAD ACT STANDS

Appears to Be Attitude of New Congress.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.

New York Herald Bureau. of a strong intimation that Attorney-

Coincidentally there was consternation and anger in the red brick citadel of the Anti-Saloon League, which nestles almost in the shadow of the Capitol, as if to keep a wary eye on the enemy in Congress.

The "old stuff" with "body" will be obtainable by the bottle, the gallon and the case if the Palmer dictum stands up, and there is every indication now that it will stand up. It's tion now that it will stand up. It's about the only relief anywhere in sight for the wets so far as the new Congress is concerned, but for this relief they give thanks to Gambrinus and the Volstead law itself, for apparently the Palmer decision to be upheld by Daugherty is based squarely upon the law, and lawyers say that is well nigh impregnable.

No Change in Basic Law.

The wild hopes of the wets and rosy dreams of the whole liquor making, liquor selling crowd are based on a misconception of the makeup and trend of the new Congress, and there is no more hope of an amelioration of the general severity of the Volstead act by the new Congress than there was of a faceabout by the old one.

Beer arrives again through something like an accident, described as providental labels and the statement of the said stole the liquor from Kaplan for McCann and then attempted to resell it to Kaplan were each fined $100.

Metallorary, he said that he had no instructions from Washington regarding a shift.

Herman Buse, proprietor of a saloon at 260 Washington street, Brooklyn, was arrested yesterday by Prohibition Enforcement Agents Meir and Kilicourse on a charge of selling whiskey. According to the officers, Buse sold them whiskey at 50 cents a drink, which they took at evidence. The defendant was arraigned before United States Commissioner Rasquin and held in $1,000 bail.

After hearing evidence of how a considerable quantity of whiskey had been stolen, restolen and then seized by prohibition agents before it could be delivered. Judge Joseph L. Bodine yesterday by conception of the general was arraigned before United States Commissioner Rasquin and held in $1,000 bail.

like an accident, described as providenlevilish by the drys, but beer on a physician's prescription, for tonic use, is about the only liberalization of prohibition that anybody familiar with the sit-

Approval of the Palmer ruling that physicians have a right to strengthen patients by prescribing real beer will play hob as it is and tangle up the Federal authorities with the State officials in many States, but that is as far as lib-

The new Congress will be dry—a trifemore arid than the body which went out of existence on March 4. Of the hundred odd new members, whose boose views have not be obtained individually, enough is known to indicate that old John Barleycorn need not come rappling at their door. It is a funny situation, for in the new House of Representatives, as in the old, will be any number of exponents of the Eighteenth Amendment and Volstead act who would take a drink off another man's hip any time the invitation came to them, and not a few who voted for prohibition took the precaution to stock their realize.

Oven in Philadelphia there is a liberal minded minister of the Gospel, Dr. Rusell H. Conwell, pastor of the Grace Baptist Temple, who has been sounding members of the new Congress regarding their attitude on beer and light wines.

He got exactly 117 replies from the M. C.'s, and out of the 117 there were exactly 110 who wrote that they were in favor by 110 who wrote that they were in favor of loosening up prohibition to let in beer of loosening up prohibition to let in beer of loosening up prohibition to farm of the seen of loosening up prohibition to let in beer of lo of losening up prohibition to let in beer and light wines. That proportion of favorable replies might seem to indicate that Congress had a change of heart and was willing to do something rough to the Volstead act. As a matter of fact, according to Senators and Representatives who know the game, such an assumption would be a delusion and a snare. Memoral of the state of the state

It is pretty generally believed here that is foongress could be persuaded to vote as it actually feels there would be a lot of liberalising and the Voistead act would be shot full of holes, but nobody believes this miracle is likely to happen—at least not for the next two of beautiful that the second has not for the next two of the constitution of the next two o

RESIGNATION OF DRY DIRECTOR IS DENIED

Think Wet, but Vote Dry, Chapin Says He May Be Sent to Another Post at Short Notice, However.

Prohibition enforcement circles well as those circles that try to dodge enforcement were excited yesterday A thrill of joy pulsed through all but afternoon over a seemingly reliable the extra dry and the very extra wet rumor that Dan R. At the same time it was said torney-General Palmer bowed himself out of office.

would be a delusion and a snare. Members of Congress may write to thus and so, expressing their private opinion that enforcement is too, strict and that the health of the nation requires a reasonable amount of malt extract or claret, but when it comes to standing on the floor under the baleful eye of the Anti-Saloon League spotters and voting aye, that is something else again.

It is pretty generally believed here that if Congress could be persuaded to vote as it actually feels there would be a lot of the state of the present the reported persuaded to vote as it actually feels there would be a lot of the state of the present the reported persuaded.

U. S. Grand Jury in Buffalo Lobby of Specialists Better Trained Than Federal Bureaus, Barrett Says.

Work of District Attorney Head of National Farmers' Union Lists Industries That Belong.

> WASHINGTON, March 14.-Existence of "a new and powerful 'assistant' Government" in Washington, made up of the representatives of varied interests, is night by Charles G. Barrett, president of the National Farmers Union and chairman of the National Board of Farm Organization.

rett says, "has one advantage over the Constitutional Government. It is more effectually trained for its work. It is an association of specialists. Eminent men and perhaps more in public life are incuded in the indictments.

Simultaneously with the report of the Grand Jury the Baptist ministers converence of Buffalo, meeting in the Central Y. M. C. A., sent a letter to President Harding, demanding the immediate removal of Mr. Lockwood, declaring that the liquor scandal in Buffalo was a "stench in the nostrils of the Christian and law abiding people of the city."

Supervisor John F. Moriarity, John J. Gannon and "Speedy" Anderson, whose names have been mentioned in connection with the whiskey scandal, will appear before District Attorney Lockwood to-morrow, it is said, to see if they are wanted.

The Grand Jury in a special report praises the efforts of Mr. Lockwood in his endeavor to enforce the prohibition laws, and suggests that the powers of outside organizations, such as the Anti-Distributers, American Mining Congress, American Realty Exchange, National Merchant Marine Association, League of salon League, should be clearly defined, so that interference with the progress of justice may be avoided. The report, in part, follows:

"The District Attorney is not properly supported by the Federal Government. This office could be greatly strengthened by the addition of a corps of agents, reporting directly to the District Attorney, Much valuable time is now lost in waiting for operatives from distant stations used for getting evidence.

"The marshal's office is dilatory in serving subpoenas, and we find it is due to insufficient working force.

"Greater care should be exercised in the selection of dry agents. These positions are given to applicants with political influence. This department could be improved by placing it under civil service."
